Friction Between Yugoslavia, Italy Arises on Killing

Zara Population Said to Be Aroused Over Slaying of Minor Chief of Party

Accuses Greece

Gayda Says Greeks Try to Seize Portion of Albania

Rome, Aug. 13 (AP).—Friction between Italy and Yugoslavia was reported by the Fascist press today as Italian-Greek tension apparently moved toward a crisis.

The Yugoslav difficulty, according to the newspaper La Tribuna, was over the killing of a Fascist in the Italian town of Zara on the Yugoslav coast. The Zara populace was said to be aroused.

Fascist Leonardo Ciurcovich, the dispatch said, was killed when he objected to a stranger singing a Slav song on a Zara street.

It failed to say how Ciurcovich, a minor Fascist leader in a Zara suburb, had been killed except that he had been "barbarously slain."

It described him as Zara's "first Fascist martyr whose name will be honored fittingly."

Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor, who often reflects official opinion, accused Greece today of seeing to seize part of Italian-held Albania.

The accusation was contained in Gayda's rejection of a Greek version of the slaying near the Greek frontier of an Albanian, Daut Hoggia.

It was reported without confirmation in Athens that the Italian government had presented a note to Greece.

Planning Action

Greek authorities, Gayda charged in the newspaper, "Il Giornale d'Italia," are planning "action against Albanian independence," and intended to use the slaying as an act of propaganda for annexation of Southern Albania to Greece.

(Since the Good Friday invasion of 1939 which toppled King Zog from his throne, Albania has been incorporated within the Italian empire.)

Stefani, official Italian news agency, distributed excerpts from an editorial in the Tirana, Albania, newspaper Tomori which declared "the responsibility for the crime falls upon Greece because it was conceived and organized in Greece."

Tomori hinted that Greek ties with England were another cause of Italian irritation with Athens.

Giovanni Ansaldo, authoritative editorial writer for Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's Legation newspaper Il Telegrafo, indicated Italy would demand a restoration of Albanian territories under Greek and Yugoslav rule in any eventual readjustment of Balkan frontiers.

After recognition of Albanian independence, Ansaldo wrote, "considerable groups of Albanians" remained outside the present boundaries under Yugoslav and Greek rule, and for long years "Albania was obliged impotently to witness their systematic persecution."

(The Greek government said Italian charges in connection with Hoggia's death were false. It said (Continued on Page 11)

Democratic Plans Are Under Fire by Senator Hatch; Willkie Says Flynn Should Understand There's Limit

G. O. P. Nominee Says He Is Gratified at Jackson and Hatch View of Sale

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 13 (AP).—Asserting that Chairman Edward J. Flynn of the Democratic national committee should "understand that there is a limit to political ruthlessness," Wendell L. Willkie said today:

"I am gratified to learn that Attorney General Robert Jackson and Senator Hatch (D.-N.M.) have today joined in my campaign to prevent the Democratic national committee from brazenly violating both the corrupt practices act and the Hatch act by the sale of Democratic campaign books."

"The corporate advertisements in these campaign books were in many instances obtained from the corporations because such corporations either hoped to escape punishment from the federal government or receive reward from it."

"It is a step forward that this method of raising campaign funds has been eliminated. Even Boss Flynn (Edward J. Flynn, New York Democratic chairman) certainly ought to now understand (Continued on Page Two)

Hundreds Of Planes in Dawn Raid

British Fighters Meet Attacking Germans in Third Day of Massed Raids

Nazis Are Losers

Germans Lose Bombers and Messerschmitts in Battles

(By The Associated Press)

London, Aug. 13.—A swarm of German raiders returned to the attack on 200 miles of English channel coast late this afternoon, fighting a large-scale combat with defending planes behind low-hanging clouds.

The thunder of scores of mortars and the crashes of several planes told the story to ground observers, although the clouds hid most of the fighting.

It was the climax to the third successive day of power assault, and again today—as on Sunday and Monday—the Nazis were using from 400 to 600 planes. From Berlin and neutral Switzerland, too, came predictions that the zero hour for actual invasion was approaching.

At one southwest port early this evening, a flaming fighter spiraled into the sea; at a village six miles away, a German bomber crashed, with two dead and one captured.

Battle Enues

Dover, England, Aug. 13 (AP).—Hundreds of German planes swept across the cloud-blanketed channel this morning and were met by swarms of waiting British fighters who engaged them in savage combat as they smashed at England's southeast coast in a third successive day of massed raids.

At least four planes in the first wave of raiders were shot down and three others were believed to have plunged into the sea.

At one point more than 100 German aircraft, including 35 Dornier bombers and a formation of Messerschmitt fighters roared across the coast, partly obscured by the channel haze.

Fifty German planes launched an attack at another point, while at other places along the coast observers said the raiders came over in waves every two or three minutes.

Taking advantage of a low ceiling, a big formation of raiders flew in masked by clouds and raked the balloon barrage with machine-gun fire and light cannon.

Two of the balloons were seen to fall.

For half an hour the drone of airplane motors was heard above the clouds, accompanied by the rat-tat of machine-guns and heavier thud of cannon.

Streets Are Struck

Some of the bullets struck streets along the waterfront.

Numbers of planes could be heard overhead for a half hour or more before the raid started.

The battle above the clouds apparently equalled, if it did not actually exceed in extent, the pre-dawn activity which has ushered in the past two days of violent German raids.

Observers at a listening post said the enemy planes seemed to come over in waves every two or three minutes.

Father of Anti-Politics Law Says Purchase of Book Would Violate His Recent Measure

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP).—Democratic plans for a souvenir 1940 campaign book were under the fire today of one party member who called the projected publication an evasion of the anti-politics law.

Senator Hatch (D.-NM), father of that legislation, told his party publicly that "the only thing to do now is to discontinue the book and obey the law."

"Under the act the sale of the book is not prohibited," he asserted in the Senate yesterday, "but its purchase is a violation of the law."

Hatch said advertising by corporations in the book was "clearly an evasion, if not a violation of the corrupt practices act" that bans political contributions by corporations.

While Hatch criticized the campaign book, Senator Miller (D.-Ark) announced that he would introduce an amendment to the corrupt practices act making it a violation for any person, firm, corporation or officer of a corporation directly or indirectly to solicit funds from employees for political purposes.

Hurricane's Toll Is At Least 35; Real Estate Loss Great

Survey Shows No Great Damage at Charleston; Red Cross Is Busy in Storm Area

Atlanta, Aug. 13 (AP).—The hurricane-battered coasts of Georgia and South Carolina counted at least 35 dead today and millions of dollars of property damage as near-normalcy returned to the stricken area.

The Red Cross reported from Washington that 25 negroes were killed on St. Helena Island near Beaufort, S. C., Sunday in the 80-mile-an-hour hurricane that swept out of the Bahamas, and eight other negroes perished on nearby Ladies Island.

Two persons died at Savannah, Ga., as the storm swept that city. One CCC boy was missing on Huntington Island, near Charleston, S. C.

Governor Burnet R. Maybank of South Carolina said Beaufort county appeared to have been hardest hit. At least 200 homes were destroyed in the county and many others damaged. Maybank said Red Cross aid, chlorine and (Continued on Page Five)

Shelling of Britain's Coast Area Reported

Reports Indicate Guns Across Channel Are Firing Upon Coast; Several Killed

(This dispatch was passed through the British censorship after most of it had been held back 24 hours or more. It was delayed until after British authorities had investigated and denied reports that long-range Big Berthas across the channel from England may have been shelling the southern English coast while Nazi planes also were bombing it. Parts of the dispatch still are missing.)

By ROBERT E. BUNELLE

A Southeast Coast Town, England, Aug. 12.—(Delayed by Censor).—Shells were reported today to have fallen on the southeast coast of England, but there was no official announcement or confirmation.

Reports came from a coastal town that shells were falling there.

Two persons were killed and eight wounded here. Houses in several residential districts of one southeast coastal town were damaged shortly before midday.

Although it was at first thought an enemy bomber was over the town, it later was considered possible that the heavy explosions were caused by fire.

An investigation was started at once by the authorities.

It was not established officially that long-range shelling from across the channel had begun.

(Here two pages are missing. Authorities today said there was "no confirmation at all" that the heavy explosions were from shell-fire.)

Examination of the spots where the missiles fell showed they landed from the south. Some said they might have been eight-inch projectiles fired from the Calais area (Nazi-held French coast south of Dover) by long-range guns. Police took all big pieces for examination.

Army Enlists Former 'Miss America' To Aid Enlistments; Ballyhoo Planned

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP).—The army called a former "Miss America" to the colors today in its drive to enlist an additional 50,000 men as soon as possible.

Recruiting offices gave nationwide publicity to a picture of Miss Marilyn Meske of Marion, Ohio, smiling her approval of the familiar poster of Uncle Sam saying: "I want you!"

Officers said Miss Meske had been crowned "Miss America 1938-39" at Atlantic City. Her photograph has already been used "with good effect" in the recruiting campaign of the Fifth Corps area, which has its headquarters at Columbus, Ohio.

Pretty girls aren't new in recruiting drives—they helped the army win volunteers in World War days—but the recruiting service is about to try something else that is.

Capt. Rieber Ends Long Career With Texas Corporation

Association With German Commercial Emissary to United States Cited as Main Reason

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—Capt. Torkild Rieber, stocky, $100,000-a-year chairman of the Texas corporation, has ended a 35-year career with the international oil firm, the result of recent disclosures of his association with a German commercial emissary to the United States.

The 58-year-old Norwegian-born oil executive, who went to sea at 14 and became a tanker skipper at 21, explained after a seven-hour meeting of the board of directors yesterday he had submitted his resignation "because of certain publicity detrimental to the Texas corporation" in connection with reports of the activities of Dr. Gerhart Westrick, commercial counselor of the German embassy.

As a result of the revelations concerning Westrick, Rieber acknowledged helping the Nazi representative to get a driver's license and offering him the use of a company car.

The oilman explained he considered this "good business" since Westrick, a German supreme court lawyer, had represented the company on occasions in Germany.

The driver's license subsequently was revoked by the state motor vehicle department after a hearing which brought testimony from a Texas company official that the company had paid for the car Westrick used but had expected the German official to pay back later. Westrick's license was taken away on the grounds his application contained false statements.

Revises Guard Provisions

It also revised the National Guard provisions to require mandatory discharge, upon request, of a guardsman with one or more absolute dependents.

In offering his conscription substitute, Taft said it provided a comprehensive plan for training the youth of the nation, without disturbing their schooling or diverting them from their jobs, through the establishment of a separate army training corps and the encouragement of three-to-four-year high school and college military courses.

The Ohioan said it would be "putting the cart before the horse" to enact the Burke-Wadsworth bill which would require the registration of all men from 21 through 30, with the first 400,000 to be called for active training in October.

Instead, he urged that a special training corps be set up as quickly as possible, quotas fixed for it and (Continued on Page 11)

Willkie Declares Flynn Should Know that there is a limit to political ruthlessness.

The Republican nominee issued his statement in response to reporters' questions about the ruling of Attorney General Jackson that the justice department would not permit the sale of Democratic campaign books by state or local party organizations and Hatch's declaration that purchasers of the books would be liable to prosecution.

In New York, Flynn said "the advertising contracts to which he refers were all entered into long before the Hatch bill became a law. No advertisements are now, will be solicited."

There never has been any intention of placing the book on sale. It will go to 100,000 or more Democratic speakers and workers.

Willkie also was asked to comment on a statement by Oliver A. Quayle, Jr., treasurer of the Democratic national committee, that he was "not at all perturbed" about Willkie's warning that if elected he would prosecute sellers and purchasers of advertising in the books. Quayle had said he did not believe the Republican nominee "stands a chance" of being elected.

"That is the strangest answer I ever heard," Willkie remarked. They are not afraid of being prosecuted because they don't think the prosecutor will be elected. I practiced law a great many years, and that is the most interesting defense I have ever heard."

A luncheon engagement with Alf M. Landon, the 1936 Republican nominee, was on Willkie's calendar for today. Landon was expected to read Willkie's acceptance speech, discuss general campaign issues and offer to do what he could in the campaign.

Herbert Hoover, who came here Sunday, received a round of applause when he left Willkie's resort hotel yesterday.

Willkie had had a breakfast talk with the former president and then spent an hour talking with Mary Pickford.

Special truck taxes in 1939 were equivalent to all maintenance costs, plus one-third of construction costs, on all state highways.

Samuel Brown was sentenced to 60 days in jail, when it developed that he had served 30 days in jail here about three years ago for a similar offense, that of annoying women on the street.

Robert Premier of New York city, arrested for overtime parking on Wall street, forfeited $2 bail by failing to appear in court today.

Thomas Nevins, who said he had no home, was arrested last night on a charge of vagrancy on Fair street extension. He was given a suspended jail sentence provided he was out of the city by noon.

Board of Health Sponsors Movie on Sanitation

A sound motion picture entitled "Twist the Cup and the Lip" will be shown on Thursday evening under the auspices of the board of health in the auditorium of the Myron J. Michael School. It had been planned to show the picture in the high school auditorium, but the electric wiring system in the high school is being repaired.

This picture was produced by the state health department and is said to be extremely interesting as well as educational and dramatizes the necessity for efficient sterilization and handling of dishes and utensils used in all types of eating and drinking establishments in an interesting and effective manner.

Admission is free and the health board has invited the operators of all public eating and drinking establishments in the city and their employees to attend.

The picture will be shown at 8 o'clock that evening and the time required for the showing is about 25 minutes, so the program will be brief.

Farm Displays Change Style for 100th Fair

Syracuse, Aug. 13—Striking, widespread changes in exhibiting farm products will feature the modernized Horticultural Building at the 100th Anniversary New York State Fair, to be held here August 25 through September 2. Director Paul Smith revealed today in announcing plans for the building.

The entire interior of the building has been revamped, and new, modernistic booths have been installed along all sides. Indirect lighting is to be used throughout and 62 large decorative murals will be employed to decorate the many farm group exhibits.

Radical changes in the method of display will be one of the outstanding features. Mass exhibits stressing the dominant product from each county are to be offered by 12 county farm bureaus, Smith disclosed, and 12 granges which heretofore have exhibited singly are to offer two mass competitive exhibits, with six granges co-operating to frame each exhibit.

EPIDEMICS THREATEN FLOODED LOUISIANA FLATLANDS

Here is a view of the flooded main business street of Crowley, La., located in the Louisiana flatlands where a flood disaster of major proportions developed following last week's tropical storm. Relief officials sent out emergency calls for medicines to check threatened epidemics of diphtheria, typhoid and malaria in the area. Things were made difficult for relief workers in Crowley when most of the white residents there, despite their plight and virtual exhaustion of food supplies, refused to leave in trains of box cars sent to evacuate them.

Reuner Installs Large Sign

A large Neon sign, measuring three feet by seven feet, has been erected by Herman Reuner at the entrance to his monument yard at Hurley avenue. Installed by Al King, the new sign climaxes two years of improvements which have been underway at the Reuner establishment. During this time the local monument works has been remodeled to the extent that today it ranks with the better equipped businesses and is capable of handling any type of monument work. This month—on billboards throughout this territory—the Gulf poster below is on display. Because the news it tells is important to all motorists, we have taken this opportunity to give you the full facts.

ONE GLANCE AT THIS POSTER has probably told you that both Good Gulf and Gulf No-Nox gasolines have been stepped up. But what the billboard couldn't explain is that this is not a symbolic picture but an accurately drawn graph!

This chart shows you the relative boosts in anti-knock value—shows by direct comparison, how much these two great fuels have been improved. What's more, these improvements are not the kind that show up only in scientific laboratory tests. They're step ups that can make a real difference in the performance of your motor!

The step up in regular-priced Good Gulf gives it an extra performance "plus." The improvement in Gulf No-Nox—which was already knockproof under all normal operating conditions—makes it tower above its old remarkable high. NO REGULAR GASOLINE—NOT ONE—CAN COMPARE WITH GULF NO-NOX!

Introduce your car to one of these stepped-up fuels today! They're available at the Good Gulf dealer's in your neighborhood.

Grand Jurors Enjoyed Fine Outing Sunday

There was a good attendance at the annual picnic of the Grand Jurors Association of Ulster county held at the Albert Wilkins farm, Walker Valley, Sunday.

The large farm of Mr. Wilkins, with his private summer home, is more especially adapted for the entertainment of his Florida, New York and Ulster county friends, rather than for agricultural purposes. There is a golf course, tennis court, large swimming pool, picnic lodge, shelter pavilion and equipment for games of various kinds for entertainment of his guests.

All these sources of pleasure were greatly enjoyed by the members of the Grand Jurors Association and their friends Sunday. Particularly popular was the large swimming pool and it was in great demand throughout the day.

Mr. Wilkins has been a director of the association for a number of years and each year he plans some original form of entertainment for the association members and their families on the occasion of the annual outing.

Negroes Are Arraigned

Ulysses Young and Bismark Owens, arrested on disorderly conduct charges following a fight at Goldrick's brickyard early Sunday morning, were arraigned before Justice John Acker Monday night.

Young was sentenced to the county jail for 180 days and Owens paid a fine of $10. They were charged with disorderly conduct. Both men were injured during the scrap, in which a knife and a bottle are said to have figured.

Busy Beavers Tricked

When beavers began cutting down valuable timber from a stand south of Allen's mills near Farmington, Maine, forest rangers found they had a fight on their hands. The busy little creatures had a dam nearly completed when the felled trees were found. The chief ranger called all hands and dynamited several places in the dam. The beavers filled them up over night.

Next a six-inch iron pipe was placed in the dam to drain it. This puzzled the beavers for a couple of days when they found and plugged both ends of the pipe. The water rose again.

Next a siphon of fire hose was tried. The beavers gnawed it through in short order. Finally, the dam was almost entirely removed and the material hauled away. Then the rangers rigged up a terribly looking scarecrow hoping to frighten the destructive little creatures away. Did it? Not a bit. They cut down the scarecrow, divided him into convenient pieces and used him for building a new dam. After that the beavers were trapped out. It was the only way to make them quit their building.

Insulating board is a building material produced in large units without grain or knots. It is manufactured from wood or cane fibers by a felting process and treated for water-resistance. Its outstanding characteristic is that it combines structural strength with insulating value.

Damage Heavy as Tropical Hurricane Hits Savannah

A tropical hurricane bringing a wind velocity of 75 miles an hour, sweeping the Atlantic coast from Savannah, Ga., to Georgetown, S. C., did extensive property damage, killed several persons and left Charleston in darkness, cut off from the outside world. This water front building in Savannah—Rourke's Iron Works—bears testimony to the fury of the storm.

10 Persons Killed In Plane Wreck; 3 Cabinet Officials

Melbourne to Canberra to attend a cabinet meeting, were: Brigadier Geoffrey A. Street, defense.

J. V. Fairbairn, air. Sir Henry Gullett, vice president of the executive council. Other victims were Sir Cyril's chief aide, Col. Thornthwait; Street's secretary; and the four members of the crew.

Government officials immediately postponed the cabinet meeting and a scheduled session of the Commonwealth Loan Council. The plane was a Lockheed Hudson bomber. The pilot, forced to land, made what at first appeared to be a successful pancake landing on the side of a hill, but the plane burst into flames almost immediately and the occupants, believed to have been alive when the plane hit the ground, were unable to escape.

An armed guard was placed around the wreckage.

Premier Robert G. Menzies said the disaster was "a shocking piece of news and a great national calamity, the consequences of which are not yet fully realized."

"Every man concerned," he added, "was doing war service of the first importance."

Menzies added that other ministers would be sworn in temporarily to take the places of the victims. Parliament, he said, will adjourn immediately after meeting tomorrow.

"with real regret on the part of each individual member, but that under existing circumstances it seemed advisable to accept this resignation."

Rieber was represented in a statement by the corporation as declaring that the company had no permanent investment in Germany and had not had any for more than 20 years; that no oil had been delivered directly or indirectly to Germany since the war started, and that Rieber had seen Westrick on three occasions, but that he had never visited the German at his suburban Scarsdale residence.

As for himself, Rieber was represented as emphasizing that he was an American citizen and that "under no circumstances could he be identified with or sympathetic to any kind of un-American activity."

A vigorous and sometimes daring captain of industry, Rieber won his spurs with the Texas corporation first as a master of one of the company's tankers and later as builder of Texaco's first eastern terminal at Bayonne, N. J. He became board chairman in 1935.

Among successful deals he engineered was the sale of large oil shipments to General Franco in the Spanish civil war. Others included the opening of the huge barco concession in the Colombian jungles, which became a highly successful enterprise.

Dead Man Got Up And Walked Away

A "dead" man got up and walked away from where he had been lying in the road up Big Indian way early this morning, but not until he had been responsible for calling out an army of sheriff's deputies and state troopers.

When the officers reached the spot where the supposed dead man had been seen they found no trace of him. Inquiries developed the fact that the man had got up and walked away, following the giving of the alarm.

So You'd Like a Place in the Country? How About That National Park Land You Own?

By JOHN GROVER

AP Feature Service Writer

Washington—Imagining owning a 176,000,000-acre country place these asphalt-melting days. Well, that's just the size of your cool, green estate in the national forests, Mr. and Mrs. America.

No matter where you live, your free woodland retreat is no more than half a day away in the family jalopy. There are national forests in 35 of the 48 states.

There's a standing invitation from the U. S. Forest Service to use your wildwood hideaway any time. Thousands of forest rangers and forest service employees are ready to help.

Name your preference—cool woods, streams, lakes, mountains—there's a spot for you to meet the most critical specifications for an outdoor vacation.

Want a Summer Home?

You even can get land for a permanent summer home in many national forests for a $15-$25 annual rental.

The greatest good to the greatest number is the basic rule of U. S. forest management. The choicest spots for camping are reserved for the general public, and facilities for recreation have been set up there.

The next most desirable spots are set aside for group recreation sites—such as 4-H club camps and civil group camps for underprivileged children.

This could be you, Mr. and Mrs. John Taxpayer, because the Lewis and Clark National Forest in Montana, where this couple is vacationing, belongs to you as much as anybody.

Then, in certain areas where there is plenty of space beyond the needs of the general public and community public, the forest service leases sites for summer homes to individuals, at nominal rentals. Thousands of these low-cost, rustic cottages dot the national forests.

Want To Rough It?

In addition to the recreational centers, there are vast tracts of virgin country which have been set aside for the hardy who want to rough it. There are no roads, no facilities—just pack trails and nature at her wildest.

For the more effete there are some swank inns, such as Timberline Lodge on Mount Hood, Ore. They are operated like other vacation inns, and cost about the same.

But the facilities of the average recreation camp are free. Uncle Sam provides cooking facilities, camp site and supervision. Bring your own blankets and grub and your tent and have yourself a time.

After all, it belongs to you and you and you, a 176,000,000-acre estate a millionaire couldn't begin to buy.

Chapter 43 Bugle Calls

"AT FIRST I thought the Randy child meant an automobile horn," Gerald went on. "I took her to a big automobile accessory shop and she listened to every horn in the house. She thought it was great sport, but it wasn't like any of those. The horn she heard was pretty, and played tunes."

"I began to see the possibilities. A school of music; an isolated teacher of wind instruments; or simply a crowded neighborhood where there was an amateur tooter. If I could find out what kind of horn it would narrow things down."

"We went to a music store. She listened to saxophones, flutes, clarinets, bass horns, and shook her head. The boy had a good ear, fortunately for us. I was about to give up in despair when a boy scout came in with his scoutmaster to buy a bugle. The boy played mess call on one he was trying out, and it clicked. It was not only the right horn, it was the right tune, she told me in great excitement. Now could she have the ice cream cone? Imagine a millionaire's child who doesn't get enough ice cream cones—pitiful, isn't it?"

I laughed, and after a moment he went on.

"I made her wait a bit, while the scoutmaster took the bugle and played taps. She knew that one, too. I'd about decided I was onto something, but to make sure I asked the scoutmaster if he knew 'The Roast Beef of Old England.' He'd heard it, and said he'd have a try at it. He did—and the child said she didn't know that tune!"

"That clinched it, as far as I was concerned. He played half a dozen calls of the American army and she recognized them all. We had ice cream cones, then I took her home and was at some pains to discover that she had never visited on an army post, nor had any occasion to hear bugle calls. Then I asked her if, sometimes when the bugle was blowing, she had heard a big boom like a giant firecracker, and she said yes."

"Isn't it curious how people who have the use of their eyes forget the value of the other four senses? Almost every kidnapped person is kept blindfolded, and because they can't see they hear things their kidnappers never notice. There was the man who heard the mail plane going over every night—"

He paused apologetically. "Sorry, I didn't mean to deliver a lecture. I just wanted to tell you what led me here. With the cooperation of the bootmakers and the knowledge and consent of Corps Area Headquarters, I've been traveling about from post to post in this vicinity snooping into matters which did not concern me, hoping to happen on something which did. I've ferreted out some interesting matters—here he paused with a grim chuckle—"but nothing seemed pertinent until I ran into the stolen cars of Fort Michigan."

All Ears

"AND now I must go back a little and tell you another part of the story. I'm not tiring you!"

I assured him hurriedly that he was not tiring me, that I was all ears, and please to go on. "I don't want you to get the idea that I'm handling this case alone. This was simply my angle of it, and in a sense I played in luck. But the rest of the organization is behind me, and because they are—it's rather like beating a rabbit out of the brush. No, not a rabbit. A tiger, or a jackal. The beaters were all behind it, and it came my way."

"The ransom bills were old and unmarked. But their serial numbers were taken, naturally. And early in August they began to filter in. A tremendous amount of routine work was done tracking each one down, usually to a harmless shop, or a person of law-abiding citizen who was at a loss to account for his possession of a ransom note. From all over Chicago they began to come in, and at last we began to get a picture of the method."

"A few of the possessors claimed they had made change for a stranger in the elevated station. They differed in their descriptions of the stranger. One said it was a little old man, another an elderly woman. A third described a fat man, another a well-dressed young woman. Allowing for the possibilities of disguise, there must have been at least a couple, man and woman. The method was always the same. A prosperous-looking citizen—usually a man—would be accosted apologetically as he left the station—always a busy one—with the story that the ticket seller had refused a twenty-dollar bill, and so on, with the prosperous citizen digging down in the jeans and doing the favor.

"Two of our most sartorially elegant operatives began to make the rounds. From station to station and back again, going out, coming in, watching for the little by-play. One rainy night about two weeks ago they came down the elevated steps together, and one of them went into a tobacconist's to make the telephone call. The other was sheltering in the doorway against the rain when he saw a little old man, his hat pulled low over his eyes, come out of a drugstore halfway down the block and run spryly up the steps to the station."

"On a hunch he was never able to explain, the operative followed. A train was just emptying itself as he reached the platform, and the old man, standing in the shadow of a stationer, was handing a bill to a well-dressed, portly man. The operative pounced, but he wasn't quite quick enough. The fellow ducked into the milling crowd where it was impossible to shoot, and the thunder of the departing train covered the shout of warning. Halfway down the stairs he swung over the rail, dropped into the street and, ducking through the milling traffic, darted into an alley and was gone."

"But the operative saw him!"

"He did, yes. The stoop, the thick-lensed glasses, were obviously a disguise. But the operative thinks he would know him again. And remember, we have his fingerprints. Those two things beat the jackal over the head, dropped into the street and, ducking through the milling traffic, darted into an alley and was gone."

Who Was He?

"YOU mean—here?"

"I mean here. I was a long time puzzling it out, and I've been a longer time proving what I grew to suspect. There were the charged bills. At first it looked like the end of the road, and that our kidnaper and the ransom money had both gone up in smoke. That was the way it was meant to look. Those twenty-five hundred one-dollar bills were a burnt offering to fate. But it didn't work. Bad luck for the murderer. Triple murderer. For of course the man in the car was murdered, too."

"Who was he? Immernan?"

"Immernan turned himself in at Corps Area Headquarters this morning, after he read about the last murder. He admits to having robbed the taxi driver. He was stranded in Chicago without enough money to pay his way back to the post, and if he stayed overnight he would be marked AWOL. That was his way out of the difficulty. He says he meant to pay the driver back, anonymously. Then he heard Adam telling you about the insignia. He had missed one, but had no idea where he lost it. That scared him. But when he went to put on his uniform blouse to go back to barracks that afternoon, there was another one gone. And when you saw him buying a pair at the Post Exchange, he decided the only thing for him to do was go AWOL in earnest."

"But if the man in the car wasn't Immernan, who was he?"

"He looked at me. 'You ought to be able to figure that out for yourself. There's only one person it could have been. There'll be dental records to prove it—there was a plate. Of course, we don't actually need those records. We have also a baggage check which was found under the insole of one of Felicia's shoes—'

"Felicia? But you said it was a man! Gerald, are you telling me that she—you don't mean, you not mean that it wasn't her niece?"

"I think it was, at first. The little girl Julia talked to—they wouldn't have dared let the Randy child talk to anyone. Then Felicia took the niece to Chicago and put her on the train for home, and it was the Randy child she brought back with her. Remember, Julia said they didn't come out to the beach after that, and only took walks in the evening. Some sort of removable dye on the child's hair, and a pair of thick-lensed glasses with bows were taped with adhesive under her hair, so that she couldn't take them off. The little girl told me about that, herself when I thought to ask her. No wonder she couldn't see very well! Arrgh! There was savagery in the fringed eyes now. 'That Bridewell woman will go to the chair, too, if I have my way. She's been groveling—said she agreed to the thing only because her husband was going on with it anyway, and she wanted to be sure the child came to no harm. But that the murders were done without her knowledge—'

Burden of Relief Drops in State

Recent Figures Are Lowest for Past Six Years

Albany, Aug. 13.—Unemployment relief, both direct and through WPA in New York State fell 20 percent in the number of cases and 28 percent in costs during the fiscal year which ended June 30, bringing the combined relief figure to the lowest point reached in six years. This decisive reduction was revealed today by David C. Adie, commissioner, State Department of Social Welfare, who said the marked decline in overall caseload was brought about by the steady upswing of business and industry during the past twelve months, the continuous efforts of WPA and State and local welfare officials to obtain placements for relief employables and the constant hunt by men and women on relief for jobs.

"The total average monthly caseload of 288,000 in home relief in the past fiscal year represents a reduction of 30 percent or nearly a third of the caseload of 1934-1935 when home relief reached its highest peak, prior to the launching of the WPA program, Commissioner Adie said.

"An average monthly caseload of 288,000 in home relief however does not indicate that the same cases received public assistance for 12 months. Due to turnover this average actually represents 525,000 different cases helped for various periods through the month.

"During the past two years in which the program to bring men and jobs together has been promoted on State and local levels, 177,625 jobs for relief recipients have been obtained in private employment," Commissioner Adie said.

W. H. Wood, dining car steward, Canadian National Railways, has traveled 4,005,936 miles in his 36 years of service as dining car waiter and steward, according to carefully detailed figures in his own "log." All of Wood's service has been between Montreal and Halifax on the "Ocean Limited" and "Maritime Express."

Find Insulated Homes

The use of insulating board in walls and ceilings, in addition to adding comfort and saving fuel, will help to keep the home cleaner through the winter months. Dirty lath outlines, for instance, are a result of uneven temperatures in the walls themselves. When insulating board is used as a lath or interior finish this condition is eliminated because the entire surface has a uniform warmth. Good insulation also retards the formation of dirt areas above radiators.

Mendelssohn Club Invited to Concert

Mendelssohn Club members have been invited by Dr. Elmer Tidmarsh of Schenectady to join with him and the members of his other choral clubs in a musical festival at Cooperstown on Sunday, August 18. The program, which is one in a series of four concerts being arranged for August by Dr. Tidmarsh, will be given at Lake Otsego.

The music used will be practically the same as that used at the commencement program at Union College at which Mendelssohn Club participated. A rehearsal has been called for 3 o'clock at the Hotel Otsego.

A band concert will be given at 4 o'clock and continue until 5 o'clock with community singing and will be followed by the joint chorus concert from 5 until 5:30. It is expected that Dr. Charles Gilbert Spross will be the accompanist. From 5:30 until 6 o'clock there will be further community singing featuring hymns. This part of the program will also be accompanied by the band.

Starting at 6:30 o'clock supper will be served to all singers and one guest for each singer at the Hotel Otsego.

If anyone should desire to do so there is no objection to spending the day at Cooperstown, bathing facilities will be free to all and there is plenty of available picnic ground.

Dr. Tidmarsh is particularly enthusiastic about the program which will once again unite the members of the Mendelssohn, Euterpe, Troy Vocal and Schubert Clubs, and is extremely anxious that all clubs be well represented.

Each year at Cooperstown a series of music festivals are given on the Sundays preceding the first of September. Many local choruses are invited to sing and in addition there is a community singing and a band concert. The series this season was opened August 11. The audience numbers 2,000 or more people.

Good Taste Today

YOUTHFUL VACATION GUESTS OF A WEALTHY RELATIVE WONDER ABOUT THE BILLS

Informed by Emily Post That the Hostess Takes Care of All Necessities

Two young girls have been invited by a well-to-do and evidently awe-inspiring great-aunt to go with her to a very luxurious hotel in a fashionable mountain resort. They are much worried about paying their breakfast checks. "At lunch and dinner," they tell me, "Aunt A— will be with us and write the orders and sign her name for the three of us. But if she does not get up to have her breakfast with us (which is very likely) must we pay for our own breakfasts or may we sign her name? If this is right, how do we sign it without committing a forgery? And what if she says nothing about it, which she probably won't as she is very absent-minded? What shall we do then? We haven't enough money to pay for breakfast more than twice at most—maybe only once."

Answer: Since you are her guests, you may write her name for such necessities as meals, including tips. You do not imitate her signature, but merely write her name as Mrs. Green (or Miss Green) Room 789. You must not sign for any extras (or charge without signing). Magazines or anything else bought at the newsstand must be paid for by you. Ordinarily, you should pay for your laundry and any pressing of dresses. But since she will probably expect your clothes to be fresh and neat, you might perhaps ask her frankly what to do about these items.

The Wedding Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: Does an invitation to a wedding ceremony in the garden mean that every one will expect to stay for the reception? We can't afford to provide refreshments for many people, and really can't ask every one to stay. A friend tells me that we should invite only the number we can have, and send announcements to the other people. Is this true?

Answer: Your friend is right—because you couldn't ask people to leave your garden any more than you could ask them to leave your house. An invitation to the wedding ceremony in church requires a separate invitation to the house, since one leaves the church and then goes elsewhere. But if people are at the house or in the garden, no extra invitation is included because it is taken for granted that they are expected to stay. You will either have to cut your list of invitations to the ceremony, or else prepare for many. You might remember, however, that the food can be very frugal. A fruit punch, a wedding cake cut into small sample pieces, and some ordinary small cakes to fill in would cost very little. In short, people would surely rather be invited to very simple provisions than not to be invited at all. Or (impossible to imagine) to be asked to go home.

Four Are Hurt in 9-W Collision Sunday Night

Four persons were treated by Dr. B. W. Gifford of Saugerties for injuries received about 9:15 Sunday night, when two cars collided near the Texaco gas station at the intersection of 9-W and Route 32. The cars were so badly damaged that they had to be towed in.

Injured were Mrs. William F. Todd of Rensselaer, bruised right shoulder and shin and abrasions left side of the face; Nick Bufalino, The Bronx, bruised right hip; Alex Belina, Cliffside, N. J., bruised left knee; Mrs. Alex Belina, sprained right ankle, abrasions right knee and left elbow; Alonzo Generous, Brooklyn, right side chest bruised and possible fracture of a rib.

Sergeant Cunningham and Trooper Keefe learned that the accident took place when the sedan driven by Alex Belina, headed south, crossed left to turn into the gas station for gas and collided with the car driven by George Clarke, Jr., of Rensselaer, who was driving north.

WAR POST—Intent on job is Former Judge Robert F. Patterson (above), a native of Glens Falls, N. Y., who's new assistant secretary of war. He succeeded Louis Johnson.

THE FEAR IN MEN'S HEARTS—Out of his own experiences during the bombardment of Belgium during the last world war, Georges Schreiber drew inspiration for the terror of these seamen's faces when a bomb splashes near their ship, as is the case in current sea warfare. The painting, done in Hollywood with Bob Perry, Constantine Romanoff, John Qualen and Thomas Mitchell posing, is to be shown at Associated American Artists Galleries, N. Y. It and other paintings will go on tour in principal cities of this country.

CANADA OPENS A NEW FLYING SCHOOL—First of 16 such schools to be established, coast to coast, is this new pilot training school of the Royal Canadian air force at Uplands airport, Ottawa. Above was ceremony at school's dedication.

GIANTS DUGOUT—Brought into the Giants' fold 15 years ago by John McGraw, Mel Ott (left) posed in New York with his present boss, Bill Terry, at recent "Mel Ott Night." As a Giant, Ott has hit 369 homers, scored 1,332 runs.

OTT TIME IN OLD TOWN—All the warmth of their long friendship went into this handshake of Carl Hubbell (left) and Mel Ott during "Mel Ott Night" at the Polo Grounds, New York. Ott, who's spent 15 of his 31 years in a Giants uniform, was given an uproarious tribute by some 53,000 fans who also saw Giants lose to Dodgers, 8-4. Mel's a Louisiana product.

A - GUNNING—Pretty Ilene Davidson of Alliance, Neb., has her eye on a title at the Grand American trapshooting tourney Aug. 16-23 at Dayton. More than 1,000 shooters are expected, to fire at 3/4 of a million clay birds.

TOMBS OF SOME UNKNOWN SOLDIERS—Birch crosses and soldiers' helmets mark the graves of these poilus who died near Montargis, France, battling to stem the Nazi invasion.

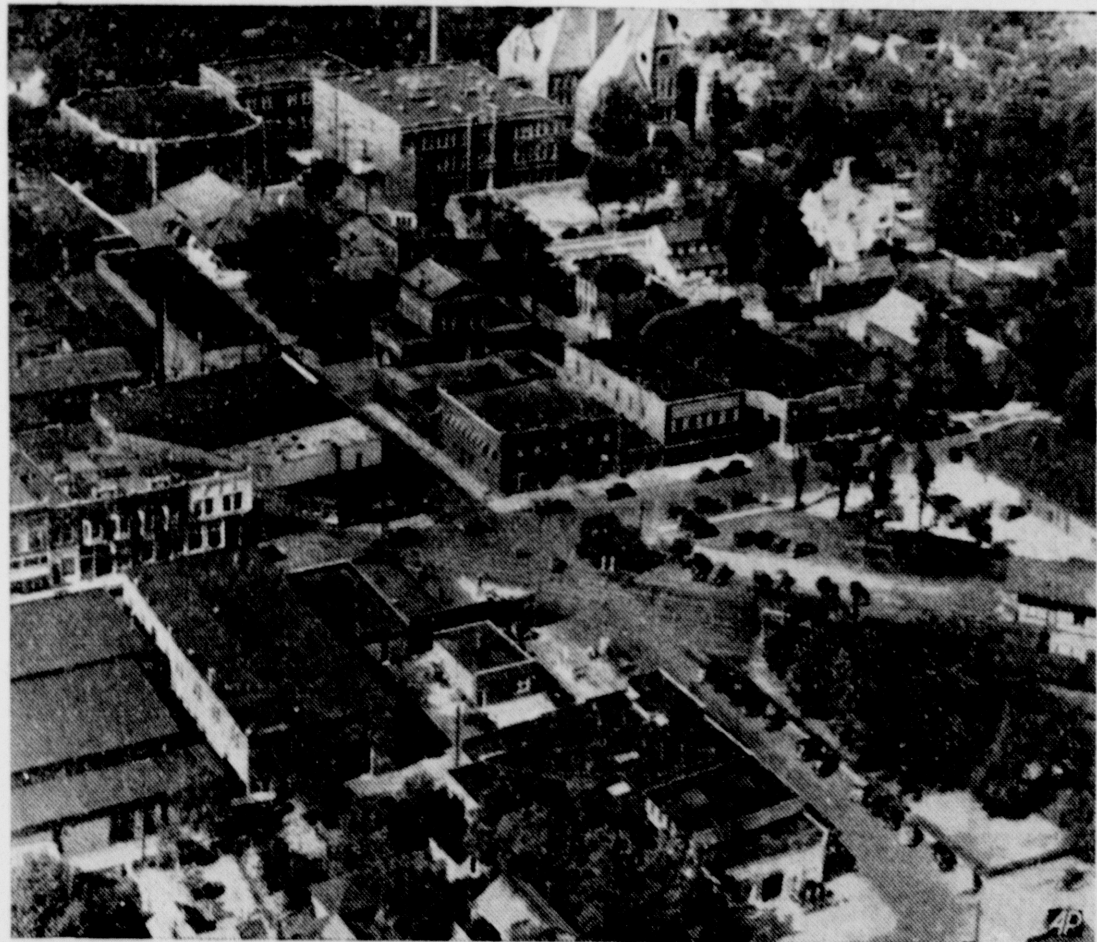

GERMAN CULTURE—"Girl Gazing" is the title of this figure by Fritz Klimsch, seen in a German art exhibition recently opened at Munich. Goebbels, in opening the exhibit, said that "art, even in wartime, is part of Nazi totalitarianism."

STRAIGHT SHOOTER—Too ill to defend her title last year, Mrs. Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., will return to fray at mid-August Grand American trapshooting tourney in Dayton, Ohio. She won North American Women's title four straight.

UNHAPPY BIRTHDAY—What Bamboozie, the Philadelphia zoo's 400-pound gorilla, thinks of birthday parties he made pretty apparent on his 14th anniversary. He threw a 20-pound cake on the floor and chewed up the birthday sign.

'MECCA' FOR REPUBLICANS—Downtown Elwood, Ind., spreads out below a plane flying over the town where Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, will make his acceptance speech. At the top center is the towered high school house where Willkie went to classes. "Sleepers" may be ranged on the railroad tracks to serve as hotels for some of expected crowd.

WILD AND WOOLLY—That sturdy Bucks county, Pa., pioneer, Daniel Boone, who hacked his way through the Kentucky wilderness about 1775, might like this jeweled version of his hat, created in silver foil for fall 1940 by John Fredericks.

BUCK-AROO—While her elders go riding on horseback, two-year-old Susie Bronson prefers a shaggy steed like Buck, a familiar figure around Sun Valley, Idaho. Even in his most joyful moments, the St. Bernard dog looks sad-eyed.

DOG STORIES FOR DOG DAYS

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

AP Feature Service Writer

For dog days, we offer you some dog stories, humorous, tragic and heroic.

First, there is Mickey, who is dead now, but whose mistress lives, thanks to him.

Mrs. Bertha Phillips of Deer Creek, Wyo., his owner, started into the cellar of her ranch home, Mickey dashed ahead of her and attacked a rattlesnake that lay coiled and ready to strike, behind the cellar door.

Mrs. Phillips rushed Mickey for miles to a veterinarian but he died despite administrations of anti-venom.

Pal, of Butte, Mont., is a saucy fox terrier whose gin-drinking mistress landed in the calaboose. Pal went with her.

"There is only one thing wrong with this jail," said the woman later. "The food must be terrible. It didn't taste bad to me, but Pal wouldn't eat it."

At Pueblo, Colo., the two dogs of the Charles A. Kuntz family get credit for turning in a fire alarm. The house filled with smoke while the family was away. The dogs barked loud and long until they attracted the attention of neighbors. When firemen arrived, a meat roast, left on an electric stove, was ablaze and threatened to cause serious damage.

Another dog with a fireman complex is the one owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Rea of Independence, Kas. They probably owe their lives to him. Rea awakened at night and discovered the dog on the bed, barking with all his might. The roof was in flames. Rea pulled his wife out of the place a few moments before the rafters collapsed.

Tale with a happy ending is the one about Lou, 4½-year-old fuzzy fox terrier owned by J. H. Zollinsky of San Francisco, Calif. Lou was with Zollinsky when his car overturned and caught fire near Columbia, Mo. His master was taken to a Columbia hospital.

Lou became frightened and ran away. Zollinsky offered a reward for him. Then farm folk reported that every night Lou came back to the accident scene and sniffed around but wouldn't let anyone catch him.

Mrs. Zollinsky came from California and went to the accident scene at Lou's visiting hour. What a reunion there was! And, later, a double dose when Mrs. Zollinsky took Lou to her husband's hospital room.

In Tucuman, N. M., Mrs. U. S. Devor thinks she knows, definitely, the meaning of "meanest thief." She bought her dog, Rags, a brand new collar and license. Proudly he strutted off for a neighborhood stroll to display his new finery to pals. A very short time later he returned—broken hearted and minus both collar and badge, the victim of a thief.

We saved the best until last. It's about a roly-poly retriever with a sense of humor, named Nigger. He belongs to Paul Montgomery of Pueblo, Colo.

Parked alone in the family car, Nigger accidentally discovered a funny gadget on it. When he leaned against it, a noise blared from under the hood.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery came running from the nearby home of friends where they had been chatting. They thought there must be an auto thief at work.

You can hardly blame Nigger now for the trick he pulls. Whenever he gets tired of waiting in the car for master and mistress he just leans on the horn and stays there.

There was little change in stock prices Monday in dealings on the exchange and volume remained low, the total being 290,000 shares vs. 308,390 Friday. The market was fairly firm in early trading, sagged a bit in the middle of the day and then firmed again toward close.

The Dow-Jones averages were irregularly higher. Industrials gained 27 point to close at 127.26 and rails were up 43 point, to 27.29. Ralls average was best since the low in May, but improvement was due to an 8½ point advance in Norfolk & Western and a gain of 1½ points by Union Pacific. The utility average dropped .05 point, to close at 22.55.

Commodity markets were without definite trend Monday, although the Dow-Jones index was slightly higher for the day. Cotton futures advanced four to ten points in fairly active dealings. Domestic wheat markets turned upward in the afternoon and at the close futures were 1-4 to 3-4 cent a bushel higher. Spot wheat remained unchanged at 2.65 cents a pound, duty-paid basis. Wool top futures gained as much as 13 points and spot tops advanced 1½ cents, to $1 a pound, on rumors that the U. S. Government was asking bids for 1,000,000 blankets, delivery to start immediately.

Announcement by the War Department Monday of a long list of awards for national defense needs, totaling approximately $18,878,900, brings to nearer the two billion dollar mark the volume of contracts actually awarded under the defense program. On yesterday's list was a million-dollar contract for airplane engines placed with Continental Motors Corp.

Studebaker reports domestic retail deliveries of cars and trucks for July at 9,901 units, best for the month since 1929.

Southern Pacific has placed an order with the Pullman Co. for 51 streamlined lightweight passenger cars, valued at $3,500,000.

Department store sales in the New York area last week showed an increase of 8.5 per cent over the like period in 1939.

Financial and Commercial

Stock Prices Show Little Change and Volume Is Low

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—Stocks suffered an attack of war nerves in today's market and industrial leaders tumbled 1 to more than 5 points.

Prices, slightly lower at the start, soon began to fall rapidly. Selling in the forenoon was the fastest in about three months. There was a substantial slow-down after mid-day and, near the final hour slight recoveries were to be seen. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 700,000 shares.

Growing fierceness of the air battle over England indicated to Wall street the zero hour in the Anglo-Nazi conflict might be at hand. Pending the outcome, broker's said speculative forces either lightened or shelved commitments. Business news and defense spending prospects, while still hopeful, were largely obscured by overseas bulletins.

Bonds and commodities backed away with stocks.

Principal share losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, DuPont, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, International Paper preferred, Great Northern, Sears Roebuck, Loft and Anaconda. Ralls utilities and oils were less depressed than other groups.

Falling in the curb were Aluminum of America, Jones & Laughlin, Bath Iron Works, American Cyanamid "B" and Humble Oil.

Winter Sports Planned

Plans for a winter sports program next season at Dewitt Lake were discussed at a meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel, this city, earlier this week. The move to open facilities at the lake for winter sports is backed by many New York city people who are guests there during the summer. Further plans will be made following a meeting next week.

Whistle on Engine Fixed

Width of Train Tracks

Railroad tracks, at one time, were of different widths, and not like today all of the exact width. Many small railroads were narrow gauge while others were broad gauge. The broad gauge was adopted from the English railroads. A lot of trouble was caused in the early days of American railroading by the variations in the gauges. In some cases three rails were laid on the ties, these rails being so placed that cars of two gauges could run on the same line at the same time.

When railroads were first being constructed in Ohio, a locomotive was built in New York and this engine was made with the wheels set four feet ten inches apart. This engine was equipped with a whistle which was to be blown whenever cattle or people got on the track.

A member of the Ohio legislature happened to hear this whistle and he was so impressed by it that he introduced a bill which provided that all railroads of the state should be built of the same gauge as the engine with the whistle. It was in this way that that width came to be accepted as "standard gauge."

Governor Assures Protection To Civil Service Conscripts

Senator Taft Has New Draft Plan

a campaign for voluntary enlistments launched.

His substitute proposed that men from 18 through 34 be enlisted voluntarily in this training corps for a year's active service. A limit of 1,500,000 was set on the number of men to be so trained and later transferred to the reserves. After the first year, only graduates of high schools or colleges, under 25 years old, could enlist in the training corps.

Increase in Pay

Increase in the army's basic pay from $21 to $30 a month also was proposed in the Taft measure, but Senator Barkley said that Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.), floor manager of the Burke-Wadsworth measure, already had agreed to accept a similar amendment to that bill.

During yesterday's debate on the draft bill, Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) charged that conscription would mean the establishment and maintenance of an army of "staggering" proportions. The creation of such a military force in the United States, he asserted, was almost sure to lead to dictatorship.

Senator Burke (D-Neb) contended, on the other hand, that selective service was the only democratic way to train immediately the large number of men who would be needed if this country were forced into war.

Accord Farmhand Goes on Rampage

Mick Puth, 62, Threatens Employer and Officer; Gets 90-Day Term

Mick Puth, 62, a farm hand employed by Sam Stone at Accord, went on a rampage this morning with a knife in his hand, and while being placed under arrest by Deputy Sheriff DeWitt Barley, the deputy sheriff was forced to knock Puth down with a blow to the jaw.

When Puth was arraigned before Justice Percy Barley the justice imposed a sentence of 90 days in jail. Puth was brought to the county jail this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Barley and Constable Morris Simonofsky.

According to Deputy Sheriff Barley the prisoner while intoxicated caused a rumpus on the farm and threatened to end the life of his employer, Mr. Stone.

The deputy sheriff responded to a call from the farm and went there accompanied by his little granddaughter. When the deputy sheriff arrived at the farm he found Puth armed with the knife with which he was threatening Stone.

Puth resisted arrest and Barley said he was forced to knock him down to prevent Puth using the knife on him. In doing so, Barley suffered a cut on his thumb.

The deputy sheriff called Constable Simonofsky to assist him in bringing Puth to the county jail.

Thomas Harland's Fame As Clockmaker Grows

A roll of the distinguished early clockmakers of this country, arranged in the order of the greatness of its members, would find the name of Thomas Harland (1735-1808) of Norwich, Conn., an immigrant from England in 1773, high upon the list, writes George P. Anderson in the Boston Transcript. Although heretofore his fame has not been widespread, recently it has been advanced by his inclusion in the now completed and highly authoritative work, the "Dictionary of American Biography" (Vol. VIII, page 275).

To attempt to fix for him an exact place in a clockmaker's hall of fame would be to challenge controversy needlessly, but the consensus seems to be that he should be given a prominent position among early American clockmakers, probably among the first four or five.

He was a modest man and apparently never had his portrait painted. He did not seek inordinate wealth, but did everything in the day's work as well as he could and was helpful and kind to others. He was a sturdy Englishman transformed into a resourceful Connecticut Yankee. Whether we take as the yardstick his skill, his character or the artistic merit of his work he stands in the forefront. Regrettably he hid his light under a bushel, and search for its rays long after he passed from the scene of his activities presents many puzzling problems.

Although much of the life story of this pioneer is shrouded in mystery, there is information which demonstrates that Harland possessed unusual mechanical skill, was industrious, well read, a good citizen and modest as to his gifts and achievements. It is probable that he was born in Norwich, England, this information being conveyed in 1923 when Mrs. Irene Harland, wife of Thomas Harland, great-grandson of the original Thomas Harland, gave the clock which had long been in their family to the Wadsworth Atheneum, of Hartford, Conn.

Copake Falls to Have Strong Club for Game With Recs Wednesday

Team Is Making Bid for Honors in Mid-Hudson Loop; Gruner May Pitch for Recs

Although the Copake Falls baseball team won't appear at the municipal stadium until Wednesday evening at 8:45 o'clock, they have had some attention given to them by a Kingston player.

This came on Sunday afternoon when Jimmy "Lefty" Martin, ex-local star moundsman, hurled for Milbrook and came through with fifty 5 to 4 victory. Jimmy is a veteran moundsman in these parts and only recently has switched over to the other side of the river for a chance with a top-notch club.

In view of this result nothing would please Manager Carl Husta any more than to have his No. 1 southpaw, Howie Brooks, on hand for Wednesday's nocturnal game at the stadium. But Brooks is with the Battery A divisions upstate and will be lost to the local club indefinitely.

With Brooks out-of-town and Bob Bush on the sidelines due to an injured finger, Manager Husta will probably call on Al Gruner, the new hurler from Highland to do the mound chores for his club. Gruner made his debut with the local team last week against Dave Thomas' Brooklyn Royal Giants and came through in a nifty bit of relief pitching to earn himself the decision.

Balanced Team

Again this year the Copake Falls club is one of the strongest units in the mid-Hudson Valley circuit. Consisting of a well-balanced pitching staff and a number of powerhouse hitters, the Falls-men are now making a serious bid for second half honors in the league.

Copake Falls saw action in three games last week. The House of David, the same club which appeared earlier in the season, lost a 13 to 6 game to the Falls-men and Freddie Dahn's club lost 7 to 3.

Milbrook defeated Copake in the other game by 5 to 4. Carl Fusco hurled the victory against Poughkeepsie while Joe Boken, ex-hurler for Bucky Harwood's Washington Senators, trimmed the House of David by allowing only seven hits. "Lefty" Carl Fusco, veteran boxer, may get the assignment against the Hustamen. He is considered one of the best flingers in this region and if he does get the call Wednesday, Kingston's skein of wins will be in danger.

Averages Go Up

After the Brooklyn Royal Giant game a number of changes were seen in the Recs' batting department. Andy Celuch who had been in the 400 class all season, continued to lead his club, but dropped to .387. Tommy Maines with three hits climbed to .288 while Charlie Neff gained to .259. George McLean, getting two hits, advanced his average to .253.

As seen by the following averages Kingston falls to go into Wednesday's game with any terrorizing bunch of sluggers. However, the fact still remains that the local club has come through in the clutch. This was true again last week against the Royal Giants.

Although nothing definite has been given out by Manager Husta, it is expected that Jack Schatzel, George McLean, Andy Celuch and Shapley Van Derzee will see action in the infield. Tommy Maines, Vince Smedes and either Mac Dano or Bill Thomas will be the battery heads.

Again this week all ladies will be admitted to the game at half price. For the past few games attendance has crept up and with the Recs playing good ball, the attendance figures should go even higher this week when Copake Falls and the famous Detroit Clowns appear at the stadium.

Following are the averages of the Kingston Recreations as tabulated by The Freeman sports department.

	AB	R	H	Av.
Celuch	62	14	24	.387
Bush	20	1	6	.300
Maines	32	1	9	.288

Betty Erne Nearly Wins Breaststroke From Rita Weaver, A.A.U. Ace; Other Winners

Betty Erne, backstroke swimmer of the Williams Lake Athletic Club, who last week nearly beat Rita Weaver, Adirondack District champion, duplicated the feat again Sunday at Utica.

She pushed the favorite to such an extent that the latter was forced to carve two seconds from the district long course record. The meet was the Central New York A.A.U. Swimming Championships presented by the St. George Men's Club and the Utica Recreation Department.

Five local swimmers made the trip which drew up the best talent as far north as Watertown and as far south as Philadelphia. Those who carried the Williams Lake colors were Lois Parry, Judith Seaton, Betty Erne, Walter Himmelberg and Rembert Junquera.

Miss Parry won a second place medal in the breast stroke event. She swam over Mary King and Pat Devore. Rita Weaver's experience in her duel with Betty Erne, won the race.

Other places to be gained in the afternoon of swimming by the locals were a fourth in the 50 meter freestyle by Lois Parry, a fourth in the 100 meter freestyle by Walter Himmelberg. He also finished fifth in the feature Junior National 100 meter freestyle for men.

During the week local swimmers will be practicing at Williams Lake getting ready for the Williams Lake Trophy Day, a swimming meet which should attract the best talent of the east and which will end the season of competition for the local team.

Queen Alice Is Set for Defense Of Fourth Crown

Defending Blonde Star of Tennis Court Will Face Louise Raymond

Today

Manchester, Mass., Aug. 13.—(P)—

Defending champion and queen of the American courts, top-seeded Alice Marble, of Beverly Hills, Calif., faces Louise Raymond, of Scarsdale, N. Y., today in the first round of her quest for a fourth championship in the Essex County Club women's invitation tennis tournament.

In first round matches yesterday the only upset was Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, of Stamford, Conn., 14th ranked nationally and the tournament's champion two years ago, eliminated by Miss Virginia Ellis, of Harvard.

Miss Ellis, a former New Englandist, went down in the second round, bowing in straight sets to Barbara Bradley, of Los Angeles.

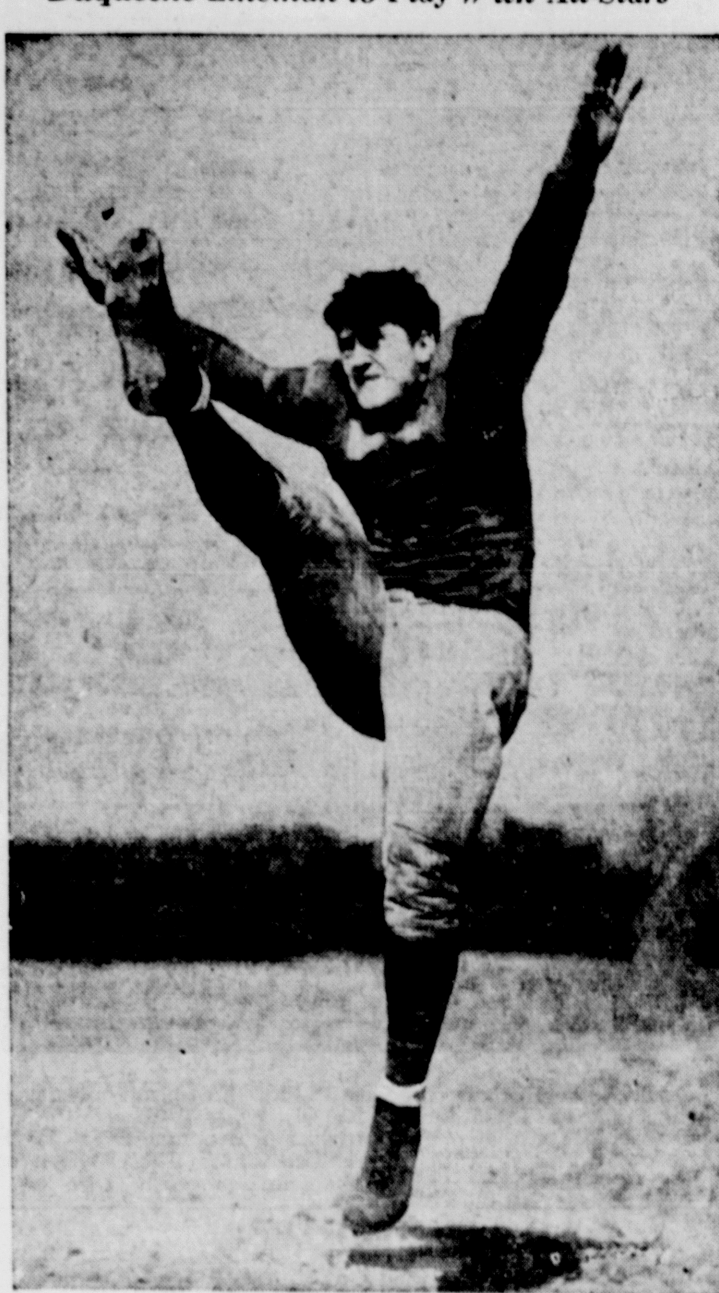

Bout May Go 15-Round Limit; Pastor Has Distinct Edge Despite Odds

New York, Aug. 13.—(P)—Possibly the safest prediction that can be made about tonight's fight between Bob Pastor and Billy Conn at the Polo Grounds is that it will go 15 fast rounds to a split decision, with the manager of the losing gladiator yelling murder at the verdict.

A fight between two such clever but light-hitting men usually ends that way, barring a bad cut that forces the referee to stop it. Sel-dom—around here at least—do the two judges and the referee agree on the winner, and the divergences of opinion between these supposed experts sometimes is amazing.

Because neither fighter is a knocker-out, the match has not created a great deal of interest and might not draw more than $50,000 at the gate. Still, it should be an exciting scrap, for both Conn and Pastor are fast, smart and willing, and they are soft hitters only in comparison to a sickening puncher like Joe Louis.

Conn Is Slight Choice Over Pastor Tonight; Both Fast and Smart

Odds Against Bob

It still is a mystery to at least one impartial observer why Conn has been a favorite ever since the articles were signed. By every yardstick in common use—experience, weight, defensive ability and fire power—Pastor appears to have a distinct edge. Anyhow, he looks like the more sensible choice. Yet the gamblers still were offering slight odds against Pastor's chances at the last call-over.

There are several intangible factors that have influenced the odds. The sharpers think maybe Pastor had a year or two of his career knocked out of him in his last fight with Louis in Detroit. They have no proof, but they simply are unsure of a man who has been jolted solidly by the Bomber.

Another angle is that Promoter Mike Jacobs undoubtedly would prefer for Conn to win and provide him with an opponent for Louis, the only fighter who makes important money for a promoter today. Mike has no intention of putting Pastor in with the champion again.

Boiceville score a 10 to 4 triumph Sunday afternoon at Boiceville by trimming the Kingston All Stars. Earl Sleight hurled for the winners who collected 10 hits off Celuch and Van Buren. Sleight allowed seven.

Boiceville opened up with five runs in the first three frames to take a 5 to 3 margin. One in the fifth and four more in the sixth clinched the game for Sleight.

While Sleight was doing the mound work Coughlin, Barnes and Topp came through with two hits apiece to pace the Boiceville club. Amarilla blasted out two hits for the All Stars.

Score by innings:
All Stars .. 003 100 000—4 7 1
Boiceville .. 13 014 000—10 10 4

Pirates Clip Walters And Reds; Feller Wins 20th to Put Tribe Up

Fails With Athletics, Lou Finney Hits Peak

Latest Boston Sensation Has Put Power in Hitting; Oves Rise to Duffy

Ted Williams, Boston's Red Sox outfielder, and Hughie Duffy, Red Sox scout and coach, are two men in the baseball world today who are mighty happy over results of one of Joe Cronin's athletes.

He is Lou Finney, outfielder and now first sacker while Jimmy Fick operates behind the plate. Until Finney came over to Boston from Philadelphia's Athletics, he was just another ball player who couldn't hit the top.

Lou worked out with Connie Mack's team since 1933. Then in May, 1939, Mack gave up on Lou and sold him to Boston on the waiver price. Boston saw some hopes of Finney's batting and paid on the line for the disappointing player.

Coming into Fenway Park, new scenery and everything, Finney joined the other ex-Mackmen, chiefly Jimmy Fick. Boston players and critics didn't take long in finding out why Lou couldn't connect. For awhile Finney watched Ted Williams wallop the ball.

Watched Williams

This didn't help too much although Lou picked up some valuable pointers. While watching Finney at the plate one afternoon Hugh Duffy came up and asked about Lou's change in style. Lou told him about it. Before Finney went back to the pay-off plate Hughie said "Try to hit that ball where it is pitched—hit it back through the box—snap those wrists into the pitch." This Lou did.

Finney started to come along—all the Sox players noted it. Soon Manager Joe Cronin began calling on Lou to pitch-hit. In his first 20 times he crashed out nine hits, received four walks and batted in ten runs. The Cronin club was satisfied.

But after making a grand comeback Lou Finney was destined for more bad breaks. First of all Dom DiMaggio, now a current sensation with the Six, was purchased. Then Joe Vosmik was sold to Brooklyn. This gave Dom clear sailing for the vacated outfield post. Finney sat back, took everything in, and wondered what his status would be with Joe Cronin's boys.

Again Finney's luck changed. During the training season DiMaggio fell and hurt his ankle. He recovered in time to open the season but after a few weeks, slipped again and injured the already-bruised ankle. In came Lou Finney. And now the rest is history why the high-priced rookie didn't get back in the outfield until July when Finney suffered an injury.

When Lou retired due to the setback he was batting .355. Just a few weeks ago Manager Joe Cronin, bent on getting his gold-plated Sox in the pennant-chase again, put Lou Finney on first and had Jimmy Fick go back of the plate. The move had great results for Joe. Finney is still batting around .319 and Fick just a few points under the charmed 300 circle.

So when Lou gallops out to first base for the Red Sox he always remembers one particular ball player—Hughie Duffy. Through Hugh's guidance he came back to make a second try, a try which has succeeded. And Hugh, incidentally, was a very reliable man to coach Lou—for the former had high average of .438 in 1934, an average that has never been equaled.

Team-play, well-coordinated and fired by the zeal of Frank Fordham Frisch, was responsible for the July victory wave of the Pittsburgh Pirates which landed them 16 wins in a stretch of 22 games, a .727 rate of progress.

Team-play did it, because although the Bucs have been near the top in club batting averages throughout their winning wave, they sport only one .300 hitter in their regular lineup, that remarkable 20-year-old keystone kid, Frankie Gustine.

Two Men Fined On 'Game' Charge

Benny Costa Is Fined and Gets Suspended Sentence; Other Fined $150

Two men were fined $150 each, the case against a third was adjourned and the fourth defendant was freed, when the Ellenville gambling case came up for a hearing before Justice Herman Cohen of Ellenville Monday afternoon.

Benny Aidaia (Costa) was given a suspended sentence of three months in the county jail, in addition to the fine of $150 and Tony Aidaia (Costa) was fined $150. Both Kingston men were charged with operating a gambling place, Samuel Astollos, Jr., charged with being an employee of the proprietors, had his case adjourned for two weeks.

James Spadaro, proprietor of the Mitchell House, in which the raid took place on July 13 last, had been held in custody of his attorney on a charge of permitting a gambling establishment to be operated on his premises. The case against him was dismissed.

Attorney Richard Overbush appeared for the People Monday and the defendants were represented by former District Attorney Cleon B. Murray.

Baby Care in Hospitals

Too many mothers leave the hospital with their first baby without knowing how to take care of them, Dr. Julius H. Hess of Chicago asserts. Hospitals should be teaching centers, he said, where the mother can learn what her baby needs. To accomplish this aim he recommended a joint service of obstetrician and baby specialist in every hospital to prepare the mother for her task.

More babies should be breast-fed, and the only way to convince the mother of this need and prepare her for it physically and psychologically is for the obstetrician and pediatrician to co-operate, he said.

Pointing out that 85 per cent of all babies are now delivered in hospitals, Dr. Hess said that most hospitals were ill-equipped for the task, and especially ill-equipped to take care of mother and baby after the birth.

Merchants Anticipate Crowds at Dollar Day

Stores Will Open at 10 A. M.; Success of Yearly Feature Has Shown Growth

Unless all signs fail and barring a hurricane or some similar untoward weather condition that makes traveling practically impossible, Kingston streets will be thronged Wednesday, Kingston stores will be crowded and thousands of people from all sections of Ulster county and even farther away, will be made happy.

The answer is, Dollar Day. Dollar Day sales, held by Kingston merchants each year in August, have become increasingly popular in recent years. Last year's sale took the merchants themselves by surprise. They had hoped for an increase over the previous year, but results were far beyond their expectations. Thus, one large store doubled its force of clerks—and still customers had to wait for service, such was the rush. Another store found that by 10 o'clock in the morning it had done 50 per cent more business than it did up to noon the year before. Two stores had to close their doors for a while till the eager crowd that jammed their aisles could be waited on and room made for others.

Are Sold Completely

Apparently the people of Kingston and Ulster county have been sold completely on the idea that August Dollar Day in Kingston is the real thing, with real bargains and real satisfaction for the money expended.

Kingston is always a good place to shop, but it is a superfine good place to spend your money on Dollar Day in August.

Visitors to the stores here on Wednesday will find them filled with attractive offerings, with genuine price reductions that will open their eyes. In many cases the merchant has made a generous mark-down as a contribution toward making the annual event a success. In others shoppers will realize that, with the summer season at its peak, the merchant has wisely decided to take the opportunity to close out as far as possible certain lines of distinctly seasonal goods and take less profit now rather than run the risk of carrying them over to another year.

Those who have read the advertising pages of The Freeman Monday and today and noted the many attractive offerings listed undoubtedly already have a good idea of the treat that is in store for them Wednesday. In many cases they will recognize the fact that goods offered at special prices are standard goods and will appreciate the fact that the advertised price is generously below the regular price for these articles. Some of the best bargains, however, will be unearthed in a visit to the stores themselves.

Visitors to Kingston Wednesday will find one advantage which is of great importance these days—plenty of free parking space. In addition to the large public parking ground on John street there is another back of the Montgomery Ward store which will accommodate a large number of cars. Both of these are within a short walk of the main uptown stores.

Picnic on Thursday

Thursday, the day after Dollar Day, the third annual merchant-employee picnic will be held at Williams Lake. The picnic starts at 1 o'clock and stops "when you get ready."

There will be a dinner at 6, a floor show, dancing, games, swimming, prizes and amusements of various kinds. A feature will be a softball game between the "Independents" and the "Chain Stores." A reasonable admission covers all the features. The picnic will be held rain or shine.

Long Years of Schooling

Not Necessary for Child

"Keep the child in school," is a slogan that has been increasingly popular in America for many years, and an immense amount of personal influence and school propaganda has been used to justify longer schooling, but according to Frank M. Rich, principal of a public school in Paterson, N. J., common sense would evidence that there is no necessity for it.

"Not preparation for life, but participation in life is the best part of education," the professor says. "Books are a wonderful source of information and inspiration when taken along with some of the concrete life experiences which they help to explain, but the notion that children and youth need unlimited abstract book learning to the exclusion of practically all world contacts, is one of the saddest of education fallacies."

Professor Rich advocates pre-vocational contacts with the business world through part-time apprenticeship, quasi-vocational activities in the kitchen, workroom and garden at home, and alternation of a season of employment with a season of school attendance.

Chickens in Pot Incite Gun Fight On LaForge Farm

Negro Farmhand Charged by Employer With Theft of Fowl, Shoots and Boss Retaliates

Two chickens simmering in a pot where they did not belong were responsible for sending two men to hospitals suffering from gunshot wounds when an argument near Wallkill was clinched with shotguns Monday morning.

Ely La Forge, 60, whose farm is on the Hoagsburgh road, about a mile and a half north of Wallkill, is in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, suffering from gunshot wounds in both legs. His injuries are reported as not serious and he is in fair condition.

Brought to the Kingston Hospital at 6 o'clock Monday night, after having been treated at the Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown, is George Massey, 50, negro farmhand, who made his home on the LaForge farm. He has buckshot in the back and back of his head and his condition this morning was said to be apparently fair. Massey is under guard of deputy sheriffs by order of Sheriff Molyneux. Following his discharge from the hospital he will be arraigned before Justice Seth C. Lippincott of Wallkill on a charge of assault in the first degree.

Troop K Called

Following the double shooting, which took place about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, Troop K of the State Police, at Monroe was notified and a number of troopers headed by Lieut. W. Reilly, went to the scene. They found Massey lying about 150 feet from the La Forge farmhouse, still conscious, although suffering from extensive loss of blood. He was taken to the Middletown Hospital. LaForge had been taken to Newburgh by a neighbor, Lonnie Wilson, immediately after the shooting.

When it was found that the La Forge farm was in Ulster county, nearly a mile from the Orange county line, Lieut. Reilly turned the case over to Sergeant E. J. Hulse of the Highland station and investigators John Metzger and Lynn Baker of the B. C. I. were sent to the scene. Later they were joined by Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein of New Paltz and Deputy Sheriff Arthur Brown on request took pictures of the scene of the shooting.

The story of the affair, as learned by the troopers is about as follows:

LaForge and his wife left the house Sunday afternoon to pick berries, leaving Massey in charge to look after the place, and attend to the chores. When they returned Mrs. LaForge claimed that some chickens were missing and going to Massey's cabin, about 50 feet from the farmhouse, she saw two chickens cooking in a pot on the stove. LaForge and Massey had an argument over the matter, but, according to Trooper Metzger, it was not serious. That night Massey is said to have been drinking in his cabin and to have been badly intoxicated.

Goes to Barn

Monday morning LaForge went to the barn to attend to the daily chores. As he went from the house to the barn Mrs. LaForge said that she saw Massey peeking out the door of his cabin. Some time later LaForge started back to the house, carrying a pail of milk and had reached a spot midway between the cabin and the farmhouse when Massey fired a charge at him from a .12 gauge double barreled shotgun, the shot striking LaForge in both legs.

LaForge dropped the milk and ran for the house. Mrs. LaForge let him in and locked the door. Meanwhile Massey is said to have followed the wounded man, apparently intending to enter the house and finish the job he had started. LaForge got his own double barreled shotgun and fired

BANISH POT-WATCHING FROM THOSE 1095 MEALS YOU SERVE ANNUALLY

COOK WITH THE GAS TURNED OFF IN A CHAMBERS RANGE

The average American homemaker is faced with feeding her family 3 times a day, 365 days of the year, or 1095 times annually. And every meal requires 20 minutes to 3 hours in preparation—20 minutes to 3 hours when somebody must be in or near the kitchen. But with a Chambers Range, much of that pot-watching can be eliminated. Only a short gas-burning period is sufficient to start a complete meal, and then the gas can be turned off completely. Food finishes cooking on retained heat, without further attention. It need not be removed when done—hours later a delicious meal can be taken direct from Chambers Range to table.
